

Gilgen Door Systems continues to expand with its takeover of GAUVINEAU Portes Automatiques SARL

As of 1 April 2017, the company Gilgen Door Systems France SARL is the new owner, with responsibility for all employees, of Gauvineau Portes Automatiques SARL, a business specialising in the field of automatic doors. It is envisaged that the company's integration into Gilgen Door Systems France SARL will be complete by 31 December 2017.

The company, which is based in Parçay-Meslay near Tours, is a specialist supplier of automatic doors and glass partition walls. Gauvineau places great value on tradition, with quality as the foundation of its client relationships and customer service. This focus on the customer is accompanied by a wide range of top-quality products and services to match. Gauvineau Portes Automatiques SARL has in fact been successfully cooperating with Gilgen Door Systems since 1983, as part of a relationship that has strengthened itself over time.

“This merger reinforces our commercial position in France and creates valuable synergies for application to growth in that country's market.” says CEO Jakob Gilgen, who is clearly enthused by the opportunity that this takeover supposes for the further expansion strategy of the Gilgen Group.

Martin Plüss, Deputy CEO at Gilgen Door Systems AG, will be pleased to deal with any further questions in this respect. He can be contacted on +41 31 734 41 11.

Gilgen Door Systems AG is a supplier of drive devices and complete configurations for door, gate and wall systems. The company, which was founded in 1961, has its headquarters in the Swiss town of Schwarzenburg. Gilgen's worldwide workforce of around a thousand employees is dedicated to ensuring the maximum availability of the company's automatic systems. Gilgen Door Systems operates via representative sales and service partners in the key markets of Europe, Asia and elsewhere overseas, and also runs subsidiaries and wholly owned customer-service centres in Germany, France, the UK, Italy, Austria, Sweden, China and Hong Kong.

Gilgen's internationally tried-and-tested drive systems, its widely recognised quality assurance system certified to ISO 9001 standards and the company's market-oriented approach to innovation all help to make Gilgen Door Systems one of the world's leading suppliers of drive systems and complete turnkey solutions. Since 2011, Gilgen Door Systems AG has formed part of the Nabtesco Group, a global supplier of systems and components. Quoted on the Japanese stock exchange, the company is based in Tokyo.
